BACKGROUND

Rich Hoffman is a political consultant and business advisor in the Cincinnati area. As a Lean Manufacturing practitioner for over 30 years, he has combined his experiences with the Cowboy Fast Draw Association to present this revealing perspective on western business conduct and its great value to the world. As an award-winning Wild West performer over several decades, this new analysis of strategy in business will bring shooting from the hip into a fresh perspective. After a long career and comparing

SEGMENT IDEAS

America is under siege!

The world is against us. In China, the threat is that 1.4 billion people could be made to destroy everything we know and understand. But fret not, we've been here before, and we win every time.

Why Won't Trump go Away?

I've been all over this country this year, over 10,000 miles, and I've seen a lot of strange stuff. But you know what I haven't seen? Any Joe Biden signs. Yet even though he is out of office, there are thousands of Trump signs still on the sides of roads and in front yards everywhere. Why? Rich has the answer!

work cultures worldwide, The Gunfighter's Guide to Business is the unique result. Hoffman has guided many political careers from school board candidates, local trustees, and state races. Rich prefers to work with many people simultaneously with a management method he calls "ghosting it," which is featured in his new book. As he says, functioning beyond titles and nameplates allows one person to do much more and reach many more people. Acting in a "ghostly" manner, Hoffman is currently working on securing several senate races, governorships, and other high-profile necessities.
